

WHAT THE CWU MEMBERSHIP PROVIDES...

We're working for you

The CWU is a modern forward thinking union working for you. We are geared for the twenty-first century, but we have all the background knowledge and experience you would expect from a union that has represented workers in communications since the middle of the nineteenth century.

Support and advice

You could be fortunate and may never need some of our services – but everyone needs a helping hand now and again. For that reason we provide advice and representation for our members at grievance and disciplinary interviews. As a CWU member, these valuable services are free to you.

Campaigning for your future

The CWU is an effective campaigning organisation. We have a proven track record of running professional and successful campaigns on a whole range of issues, including many parliamentary campaigns.

We have recently conducted high level campaigns on employment rights, equality issues, health and safety at work and regulation within the communications industry. We continue to look to the future and are leading the way in the campaign to raise standards in contact centres where the CWU now has over 30,000 members.

We are a union for the future – a union for your future.

Join your colleagues

The CWU is one of the biggest trade unions in the UK, with a membership of 200,000. Size is not everything, but it does ensure that we have enormous influence and are well respected.

Free legal advice

The CWU is very proud of its top class professional Legal Services department, which gives expert advice and exclusive assistance to our members. Last year alone, the CWU won over £39 million in compensation claims for our members and their families.

Democratic and accountable

Your membership entitles you to vote for the people who will represent you. This is because we are a democratic organisation which listens to our members' views and is run by our members.

Keeping in touch

Obviously, as a major force in the communications industry, the CWU is keen to keep in regular touch with all its members. Every CWU member receives a copy of the union newspaper, the CWU Voice, delivered to their home.

Join the CWU today!

For more information - speak to a union representative, visit the CWU website, call or email us:

0800 731 7434
joinunion@cwu.org

  www.cwu.org

t 020 8971 7200 e info@cwu.org

Dave Ward General Secretary